GRADE 2 — WEEK 7

THIS WEEK AT NVS (SUBJECT HIGHLIGHTS)

- English: Last week, Students participated in PIRLS practice to develop their reading skills, improve comprehension, and learn new vocabulary. They read short passages, practiced following instructions in the correct order, wrote simple sentences, and organized numbered instructions. They also identified the steps of an experiment and answered questions to demonstrate their understanding, strengthening their ability to read, interpret, and apply information independently.
- Mathematics: Students explored the properties of 3D shapes using real models. They identified and counted the faces, edges, and vertices of different shapes, connecting their learning to everyday objects. They also worked on their Math Project, "Classroom Garden Plan," where they designed a sample garden layout using their mathematical skills and creativity.
- Science: Students explored mixtures through hands-on activities. They learned to identify mixtures and investigated different methods of separation, such as handpicking, using magnet and sieving. Through practical experiments, students developed their observation, classification, and scientific inquiry skills while discovering how mixtures can be separated in everyday life.
- Arabic: Students continued building foundational language skills through engaging exercises, reading practice, and vocabulary enrichment.

◆ ACTIVITIES & PERSONAL DEVELOPMENT

◆ STUDENT ACHIEVEMENTS

Grade 2 Students have shown active participation this week. Most students are demonstrating a good understanding of the concepts taught and can apply their learning during classroom activities.

Raghad Mohammed H. Salman from Grade 2B and Ahmed Arafat from Grade 2C have qualified for the final round of IMSO 3.0. 🌟 Congratulations to both students, and best of luck in the final round! 🌟👏

◆ UPCOMING EVENTS & PARENT REMINDERS

📅 UPCOMING EVENTS & DATES

Happy holidays to all.

The Grade 2 Assembly will be held right after the holidays. 🌟

📌 PARENT REMINDERS

Skills are assigned on IXL for Math, Science, and English. Please ensure your child completes their weekly practice.
